Delegation Visits Lexington and Views Trials of Helios and Foundation Without Changing Opinion as to Outcome of Coming Contest.

Louisville, Ky., April 15.—A number of local trainers have returned from Lexington after looking over the candidates in training there that are eligible to race in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs on Saturday, May 10. They were fortunate in seeing Helios and Foundation, the Lexington hopes for the race, work a mile, as the track there was in fairly good condition. Helios went the distance in 1:44⅖, while Foundation went a mile two-fifths of a second faster. Of the two horses, the local experts seem to prefer Foundation so far as appearance goes, as Helios, so they say, seemed to be a bit drawn. This is, however, about as he looked in one or two of his good races last season and it may be that he will race as well in this condition as an ordinary horse does when seemingly more robust. The local contingency, however, unhesitatingly expressed the opinion that they preferred Hawthorn to either of the Lexington three-year-olds and their visit was fruitless insofar as affecting their opinion that C. F. Buschemeyer's crack gelding will be the next Kentucky Derby winner.

Hawthorn, day in and day out at the Downs, becomes even a greater favorite for this event. He is such a good "doer" and the fact that he will only extend himself fully when he has something to run against adds still deeper to the impression that he will not only go the Derby route, but that he will probably run the distance faster than any horse heretofore has in winning this classic event. He works in spots, running an eighth and loafing an eighth and this is a sure sign of a good stayer, indicating as it does that he keeps himself within hounds and always has something left.

The colored man who rides him in work is named Resse Ballard, and one season he rode several good races while in the employ of G. M. Odom. He soon got too heavy to ride at a moderate scale of weights and has since devoted his time to exercising horses. There is no better rider in this line at the Downs. He weighs close to 130 pounds, but the big gelding shoulders his colored rider in his trials as if he was a featherweight. It is likely that before the Derby is run and the great son of Hastings is given his final trial, trainer Trevey will send him the Derby route under the guidance of jockey Loftus, who can ride him at his exact Derby weight, which will be 114 pounds. If Trevey does conclude to set Hawthorn down under such a jockey, and with track conditions good, it is confidently believed by horsemen here that Hawthorn will throw in the shade any Derby trial ever worked on this track by any three-year-old.

G. W. Langdon's Kentucky Derby candidate, His Majesty, is a blockily-built colt and stands a shade over 15 hands 2 inches high. To some horsemen he would appear to be a fine model for a three-year-old, but a good English judge would call the son of Ogden a bit beefy. He is apparently quite high in flesh, but with hard training, he may be gotten ready to run in the rich stake. He is surely a remarkably bred colt, as his sire and the sire of his dam and his grand-dam are all Futurity winners.

The Kentucky Handicap, to which the Douglas Park Jockey Club has so liberally added $10,000, and which is set for the opening day of the meeting at that track on Monday, May 26, continues to arouse well nigh as much interest as Churchill Down's big event, the Kentucky Derby.

Doubtless in addition to all the older stars of the turf, including the three great four-year-olds, The Manager, Frogtegs and Buckhorn, all the stars of the Derby will face the barrier in this rich event which will be one of the richest races run on the American turf during 1913. The distance of this event is the same as the Kentucky Derby, one mile and a quarter, and it may be that with a good track all Kentucky records for this distance will be lowered by the winner.

Everything is shaping up well for successful racing at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park this spring. Those two meetings will undoubtedly be the greatest ever given in Kentucky and will add materially to the turf history of this state, which owes much of its distinction to its thoroughbred running horses. Beginning with the 10th of May, Louisville will be to America what Epsom Downs and Ascot are to England.

Though muddy conditions still prevailed at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park yesterday, at the former plant there was a hard bottom to the course and as a result horses worked surprisingly well through the wet going.

Hawthorn was only cantered around the paths of the grounds and was not taken on the track at all by trainer Trevey. It is likely he will do little more track work before the middle of the week, owing to his superb condition. A slight let-up will do him no harm. Prince Hermis, another Derby candidate, worked a half in :50, and Baron de Kalb, which is also among the eligibles for the big race, went a half in :51⅘. The Kentucky Oaks candidate, Christmas Star, in Catesby Woodford's stable, cantered six furlongs in 1:24, and was accompanied in her work by the brother to Roseben, Peter Grimm. The fastest two-year-old work of the day was by the unbeaten colt, Old Rosebud. He did an easy half in :51, after running the first quarter in :24. The Kentucky Oaks candidate, Semprite, went a half in :51. Sleeth cantered five-eighths in 1:12, and Billy Holder, another three-year-old, went three-quarters in 1:25. Other horses timed by the clockers were all two-year-olds, they being J. P. Maylow, which breezed three-eighths in :37⅖, running the first quarter in :24⅖; Little Nephew, a half in :53; Meshach, three-eighths in :37, and Harry L., a Kentucky Futurity candidate, in George J. Long's stable, a half in :51⅘.

His Majesty, from the stable of G. W. Langdon, was today sent a rating mile in 1:49. Leochares, from the stable of J. W. Schorr worked a mile in a shade under 1:50. There was little work at either Douglas Park or Churchill Downs, as trainers were holding off for fast going that is expected tomorrow or next day.

The Derby favorite, Hawthorn, was asked to go three furlongs. He covered the distance in :37, going the last eighth in :12⅕, and the quarter in :24⅖.

Jockey Loftus was today engaged by C. F. Buschemeyer to ride Hawthorn in the Blue Grass Stakes, to be run at Lexington on Saturday, May 3. Loftus will also ride Hawthorn in the Kentucky Derby on May 10. Loftus is the only rider who had more than one mount on Hawthorn last season and who never lost a race with this son of Hastings. Hawthorn will be shipped by trainer W. S. Trevey to Lexington during the last of this week or early next week. On May 4 he will be returned to Churchill Downs.

O. A. Bianchi, in his criticism of the three-year-olds named to go in the Derby and also in the Blue Grass Stakes, says that if any three-year-old

MARS CASSIDY.

THE initial experience of some of the present-day starters was with the so-called starting gate now in general use, but it was not that way with Mars Cassidy. He began sending them away years before that notable day at the Ingleside track, San Francisco, when and where for the first time in this country the Australian starting device was used. R. J. (Dick) Havey did the starting on that occasion and two other famous starters, Caldwell and Ferguson, viewed the working of the new method with keen personal interest. They were notably expert starters with the flag and it was as a starter with the flag that Cassidy did his first work in dispatching fields at fairs in Maryland and Virginia, having there plenty of schooling that stood him in good stead when called to larger fields of operation. He was born in Maryland in 1862 while the Civil War was in progress and it is related that his father, who was a wounded soldier and at home on furlough when the famous starter of the future was born, was inspired by the dread stress of the time to give his little new son his warlike first name.

Mr. Cassidy's first engagement on an authorized race track was in 1893 at Alexander Island, on the Virginia side of the Potamac in the vicinity of Washington. He accepted it with doubt and trepidation, but "made good" from the outset. From that modest beginning he progressed until in time he succeeded Christopher J. Fitzgerald as starter on the great Jockey Club tracks of New York, a position that carried with it the presumption of being the foremost starter in the United States. His transition from the use of the starting flag to the devices now in use was easy of accomplishment and he is credited with being the first of the starters to adopt the use of the walking-up-to-the-barrier system. But it might be said that he was not the first walk-up starter by any means. The walk-up starter of all time was Jimmy Sheridan, who a long time ago operated on the eastern tracks and at Washington Park in this city. Sheridan took the horses so far back for a leisurely walk up to the starting point that it led to the Western Turf Congress adopting a rule prohibiting starters from taking the horses back more than seventy yards. Before that it was not uncommon to see him marching the horses and their unruly riders to a sixteenth of a mile or more back of the place of starting, then march them back again and repeat the process until he was satisfied to flash his flag through the air and send the field away on its brief way. To his credit be it said that his starts were excellent, but usually long delayed and certainly wearing on the nerves and patience of the spectators. One of the best features of the present starting barrier is its effectiveness in doing away with long delays at the post. Now a delay of five minutes is considered excessive, while before the adoption of the new method a start effected in that space of time would have been deemed unusually prompt. When Boundless won the American Derby in the World's Fair year more than 70,000 patient spectators whiled away the time as best they could while the horses engaged in that great $60,000 race were at the post for an hour and thirty-eight minutes before starter Pettingill managed to send them away on their momentous journey. However, that was an exceptional case, the great value of the race and the tremendous throng present to view it making the jockeys so excited and nervous as to render them uncontrolable. The prize package long-delayed start of the old days of the flag occurred at Saratoga, August 1, 1885, when starter Wheatley kept fourteen fillies in the Spinaway Stakes at the post for nearly two hours and a half. For a delay at the post that is the record and, in its way, left nothing to be desired.

In England the starter has the right, under the rules of racing, to fine riders up to the limit of $50 for misconduct while at the post, but has no power to suspend or otherwise punish them, and must at once report fines to the stewards. In this country the starter has practically unlimited power to both suspend and fine jockeys and some of them have been almost reckless at times in dispensing punishment. But Mars Cassidy does not belong to this class. Of his methods in this respect it was written several years ago: "All the jockeys riding in the east today have to thank Mr. Cassidy for enabling them to collect their salaries in full, without deductions on account of fines. Instead of being disciplined in that manner boys are set down. Mr. Cassidy is authority for the statement that fines amounted to from $15,000 to $20,000 a year when he first relieved Chris Fitzgerald, while now not a single boy is fined. Mr. Cassidy believes the boys are more afraid of being set down than of being fined. When a boy was fined in the old days the fine did not always come out of the boy's pocket, but those who benefitted by his carelessness usually footed the bill." In this connection Mr. Cassidy himself said:

"I always have a talk with the boys at the beginning of a meeting and tell them plainly that if they are not satisfied with my intention of giving each boy an equal break that they will be set down if they try to prejudice me. The consequence is that the boys are afraid to take a chance."

In comparison with the ways of other starters, Cassidy's methods of dealing with the riders redound to his credit, but it would probably be better for all concerned if the powers of our starters, in a punitive way, were restricted to the much slighter limits of the English rules. The riders fear the judges and stewards much more than they do their familiar enemy and friend, the starter, and in practice it would probably be found that a threat to report them to the powers higher up would prove more effective than fine or suspension by the starter. However that may be, there is no question about Mars Cassidy being one of the best, if not the best, of the starters of the present time. The fact that he is already engaged to do the starting over the Kentucky tracks this year will prevent his assisting in the renewal of racing over the New York tracks, probably, in a way, a matter of justifiable sentimental regret to him.

PRATT BILL IS WITHDRAWN.

General View Is That Government of Racing in Ontario Is Better Out of Politics.

Toronto, Ont., April 15.—At yesterday's session of the Ontario legislature A. C. Pratt, member for South Norfolk, withdrew his measure for the establishment of a racing commission for the province. When it was reached in the orders of the day, Mr. Pratt expressed his desire to withdraw it and the bill disappeared without a word of explanation or statement from its author. The bill had been promised for more than a year, but even when introduced it attracted little attention from racing people or the public. Today's Toronto Globe says of it:

"It would be difficult to show that the government of racing—or any other sport—would be bettered by the introduction of political control. As it stands, it may not be satisfactory to everybody. No institution is equal to that demand, but there is no insistent call for a change from the present conditions. The Globe would be glad to see the installation of the mutuel system of wagering made obligatory, and all booking, on running or harness races, prohibited, but that condition will be better obtained, and with more lasting good results, by the pressure of public opinion than by any 'be it enacted,' with the possibility of entanglements by placing the control of affairs in the hands of political appointees, who might or might not have the permanency of the sport as their dominating principle. Mr. Pratt's bill at least may have the effect of a notification to all concerned, and in this way its results would be beneficial, though it never passed the proposal stage."

WHITNEY'S FIRST VICTORY OF THE YEAR.

London, Eng., April 15.—At Newmarket today, on the first day of the Newmarket Craven meeting, the Crawfurd Plate of 300 sovereigns for three-year-olds and upward at three-quarters of a mile, was won by H. P. Whitney's three-year-old chestnut colt Meeting House, by Voter—Noonday, with Sir John Kelk's four-year-old brown colt Santair, by Santoi—Helen Blair, second, and George Faber's four-year-old bay filly Girl of the West, by Eager—Flying Hack, third.

The fifty-fourth Newmarket Biennial Stakes for three-year-olds, of 25 sovereigns each, with 500 sovereigns added, over the Rowley Mile, was won by the Duke of Portland's bay colt Nassau, by William the Third—Stolen Love, with W. Astor's brown colt, Pilliwinkie, by William the Third—Conjure second, and Sir E. Vincent's chestnut colt Diadumenos, by Orby—Donnetta third.

HAVRE DE GRACE PROSPECTS EXCELLENT.

Havre de Grace, Md., April 15.—The spring meeting of the Harford Agriculture and Breeders' Association is to begin here on Friday next and all indications point to one of the most successful meetings ever held in the state of Maryland. Judging from the number and quality of the stake entries and the applications for stabling accommodations, the calibre of the sport will leave little to be desired. By the time the meeting opens there will be six hundred horses quartered at the course and more will come within a day or two after the opening. The course is in a condition to provide fast and safe racing. So great has been the demand for stalls that many applicants have been reluctantly turned away by the management.

The speculation during this meeting will be conducted through the medium of the bookmaker. The ring will be under the direction of John G. Cavanagh of New York, who managed the betting rings on the Jockey Club tracks for many years. Cavanagh has full authority, and that means order, responsibility and decency in the Havre de Grace pavilion. The meeting will last twelve days, during which twelve stakes will be decided, ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 added. The overnight purses will range from $400 to $500.

Racing Secretary Fred Rehberger will arrive at the track from New York tomorrow. Baltimore and Washington are beginning to fill with sportsmen who are anxiously awaiting the opening.

General Manager Edward Burke has been on hand for several weeks, attending to the preliminaries.

HELIOS TOP WEIGHT FOR CAMDEN.

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—Weights for the Camden Handicap, which will be the feature of the ninth day of the Kentucky Association's spring race meeting here on Tuesday, May 6, were announced today. The Camden Handicap is for three-year-olds and upward, one and one-quarter miles, and has an estimated value of $1,790 in addition to a handsome silver punch bowl, the gift of Johnson N. Camden, member of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, and Master of Hartland Stud, for whom the race was named, he having originally suggested and fostered it. The weights, which were allotted by Racing Secretary William H. Shelley, are expected to bring the contestants to the finishing post in close alignment and are as follows:

Horse.	A.	Wt.	Horse.	A.	Wt.
Helios	3	112	Lord Marshall	3	103
Manager Mack	4	107	Flora Fina	4	103
Brig	4	107	Sir Catesby	7	102
Any Port	5	107	Nash Cash	3	100
Practorian	4	104	Chilton King	3	100
Donerail	3	104	Barsac	3	98
Gowell	3	103

FAVORITES FARING WELL

Merry Lad Beats Hoffman by Narrow Margin in Principal Race of Day—Toniata Wins at First Asking This Season.

Norfolk, Va., April 15.—The Frontier Purse, a dash of one mile, was provided as an attraction by the Jamestown Jockey Club this afternoon. It brought together a well-balanced field and furnished a stirring contest, in which the favorite, Merry Lad, beat Hoffman a neck after a long and hard stretch drive. Cloudy weather kept many of the regulars at home. The track was in good condition, however, and a majority of the races furnished well-fought contests. Bulgar, Cogs, Merry Lad and Blue Mouse were winning favorites. Toniata, making his first start of the season in the third race, furnished a surprise by leading all the way. Toniata was prepared for today's race at the Havre de Grace track and his people are said to have profited handsomely over his victory.

Bulgar was the only winner of a selling race this afternoon that was bid up. He was advanced $100 over his entered price of $800, but was retained by his owner. W. A. Burttschell was responsible for the bidding.

Several stables were shipped from here to Havre de Grace this morning. Archie Zimmer, W. T. Anderson and a division of the Simons stable were among those that left. Wayne Joplin and Moore Johnson have arranged to leave for Lexington on Friday and several other owners who have been unable to secure accommodations at Havre de Grace will send their horses over to Baltimore to await the opening of the Pimlico meeting.

Nothing further has developed in the Irish Kid-Schelke-Grand case. It was expected that a prominent bettor would be involved, but enough evidence has not developed to warrant official action as yet.

Judge Joseph A. Murphy will leave for St. Louis at the conclusion of the Norfolk meeting, but will be in Montreal within a week or ten days to look over the site of the contemplated track at Dorval. It is understood that Judge Murphy will manage this plant for the new club.

The Country Club at Norfolk will, it is understood, make application to the Hunts Association at New York for membership in that body with the view of giving a hunt meeting here some time during the summer. Several jumps have already been placed on the Country Club property and a number of the members have announced their intention of securing some thoroughbreds with the idea of developing them into hunters.

Following were the best work-outs this morning:
Absconder—Seven-eighths in 1:34⅕.
Arran—Half mile in 52⅖.
Belray—Mile in 1:47⅖.
Ethel Le Brunne—Three-quarters in 1:18.
Joe Gaitens—Half mile in 51.
Judge Monck—Mile in 1:47⅕.
Kormak—Seven-eighths in 1:30⅘.
Louise Travers—Three-eighths in 38.
Mollie S.—Half mile in 52⅖.
Prince Chap—Half mile in 50⅕.
Republican—Three-eighths in 37⅖.
Rod and Gun—Mile in 1:54.
Scallywag—Three-quarters in 1:19.
Stentor—Half mile in 50⅖.
Talecarrier—Three-quarters in 1:17⅖.
The Rump—Three-eighths in 39.
Veilchen—Half mile in 50.
Winning Widow—Half mile in 52.

FOUR HUNDRED HORSES AT ALAN.

Spokane, Wash., April 15.—Great activity is being shown at the Alan track in preparation for Saturday's opening of the Coeur d'Alene Fair and Racing Association's meeting. Weather conditions in this section of the country are far better this spring than in previous seasons. There are at present quartered at the track more than four hundred horses and additional shipments are arriving daily. It is expected that by opening day that there will be fully six hundred on hand. Local interest is rapidly manifesting itself and the trains bring many people from Spokane and adjoining points to witness the morning gallops. The horses that wintered in this vicinity are not ready for racing, owing to the lateness of the season, and those that were shipped from Juarez and other distant points probably will have a monopoly of the purses in the early part of the meeting.

The association has issued a pamphlet explaining in detail the pari-mutuel system of betting, which will be in operation here for the first time.

A local ordinance designed to prohibit the printing of any advertising of the Alan races or results of the racing was defeated by a vote of 3 to 2 in the Spokane Council last night. Owing to a car shortage that has delayed the arrival of many horses, the management has extended the time for the closing of stakes to April 26.

RACERS GATHERING AT LEXINGTON.

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—Twelve horses arrived at the Kentucky Association track this morning from Latonia. Jack Weaver brought Gowell, Lady Lightning, Marshon and John G. Weaver. T. L. Pierce brought High Spirit, Bolter, Woodrow, Orange, Bazzana, Tiktok and Ada Bay. Dave Vititoe brought Old Honesty.

Wayne Joplin wired that he will leave Norfolk with twelve horses next Friday. The Hitchcock and Knapp horses, in charge of trainer William H. Karrick, are due tomorrow from Aiken, S. C.

Trainer W. S. Trevey informed Superintendent Ross that he has decided to keep Hawthorn at Louisville until next Monday.

T. P. Hayes received a letter, from E. W. Heffner saying that Punch Bowl is doing well at Sheepshead Bay and that if he continues to do so he will send him here to start in the Breeders' Futurity.

William Houston, who has charge of R. J. Hancock & Sons' Ellerslie Stud of thoroughbreds in Virginia, arrived here today and says that some of grandest-looking yearlings he ever saw are at Ellerslie. They are by Celt and Glorifier.

Theo Abadie is here from Charleston and wants to add a good horse or two to his string. He is conducting a deal with S. K. Hughes for Transit, a promising two-year-old half-brother to Carlton G.

HEARTS OF OAK RULES STRONG CHOICE.

Toronto, Ont., April 15.—The stable of Harry Giddings, ten strong, will come in from Cedar Grove Farm at Oakville, to Woodbine, about Monday next. This lot includes the strong choice for the King's Plate, the phenomenal Hearts of Oak, though it is believed in many quarters that Mr. Giddings has another good enough to win, if Hearts of Oak was out of the way. This is the filly Ondramida.

The stable of Robert Davies will come home from Washington in a few days. As there was not stall room enough for all of them at Havre de Grace, it was decided not to race at that meeting.

NOTES OF RECENT ENGLISH RACING.

At the Newbury Spring meeting last Saturday the Newbury Spring Cup of $6,250, at a mile, for three-year-olds and over, was won by P. Broome's three-year-old chestnut colt Aldegond, by Eager—St. Aldegonde, carrying ninety-two pounds and a 20 to 1 outsider. Lord Durham's six-year-old black gelding Bromcepeth was second, and F. C. Sterns' four-year-old black or brown colt Mordred third.

Lord Derby celebrated his birthday by winning the Knowsley Plate at Liverpool with Light Brigade, which has made up into a particularly handsome three-year-old.

Berrilldon has incurred a ten pounds' penalty for the City and Suburban, which raises his weight to 110 pounds. Junior will meet his conqueror at Lincoln on ten pounds better terms in the Epsom race.

Trianon III., the French horse, did not exactly fall in the Grand National, but W. O'Connor caught one of his feet in the fence, and was pulled out of the saddle.

Fred Webb, who has just returned to Newmarket after spending several years as trainer at Alag, in Hungary, where he met with considerable success, intends setting up again as a public trainer at headquarters. He it was who prepared Merman, which won the Cesarewitch in 1897, among many other winners.

Blowpipe, which was in front for the first circuit of the Grand National Steeplechase course, was jumping splendidly until he took off too soon at the water, turning and lying on his jockey. The latter was soon up, and not in the least hurt. Remembering that his owner had several fancy bets as to the horse getting the course, Smith hurriedly caught his mount and regained the saddle. Blowpipe subsequently negotiated the two fences in the country, but fell twice afterwards, and wound up by slipping into the open ditch.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

In addition to Maddison, whose death at the hands of bandits in Mexico has previously been reported, Joachim Amor's stallions Handy Bill and Sorcerer were killed by the marauders, who also took away several broodmares. Handy Bill was a chestnut horse, foaled in 1902, by Handspring, out of Billetta, by Billet; Sorcerer was a bay horse, foaled in 1889, by Ormonde, out of Crucible, by Rosicrucian.

The death of Frank A. Campbell in New York last week removes one of the old brigade of amateur steeplechase riders who left no successors here. "Doc" Campbell was a veterinary surgeon, and a captain in the Governor-General's Body Guard, going to New York about eight years ago for the practice of his profession, in which he was very successful. He was a fearless rider across country, and a familiar figure at all the Woodbine meetings for many years, riding both his own and other people's horses in many a well-remembered race. He was a son of Duncan Campbell, M. D., and graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College in 1875.—Toronto Globe.

The fastest mile today at the Downs was scored by Any Port, F. D. Weir's Kentucky Handicap eligible. He worked the distance in 1:47⅘, running the first three-quarters in 1:32⅕. Only two youngsters worked a half at the Downs as fast as :53, they being J. R. Wainwright's two-year-old colt, High Class, and Ivan Gardner.

E. R. Bradley returned from Chicago today and will remain at the Downs until the last of the week to see his big string of horses worked. Mr. Bradley will send fourteen horses to Lexington next Monday.

Dan Lehan has received word from Thomas Collins that Bourbon Beau has again gone wrong and that he sees no hope of ever again racing that great horse. Bourbon Beau was eligible to the Clark Handicap and the $10,000 Kentucky Handicap. He will be retired to the stud.

C. R. Ellison of Chicago was at the Downs today, looking over the various cracks in the stables quartered there. Mr. Ellison owns some horses in partnership with John McLaughlin that are quartered at Lexington in the stable of Abe Akers. Among the youngsters they own is the much talked of Kentucky Futurity candidate, John Gund. Mr. Ellison favors Hawthorn for the Kentucky Derby and regards him as the champion three-year-old of the season.

W. J. Weber has arrived from Texas to see his two colts Meshach and Abednego work. They are here in the stable of F. E. Otis. These youngsters will be shipped to Lexington next week.

G. Estep, who comes from Kansas, has two six-year-old horses at the Downs, which are attracting some attention. They are good looking animals and apparently possess speed. One is Jack Coombs, which started once as a two-year-old. And the other is a son of Watercress. A man in Kansas purchased these two horses from J. B. Haggin, with the idea of developing them for saddle purposes. He has, however, discovered that with age they both have developed a desire to run and so he put them in trainer Estep's hands. The Watercress gelding is a sightly specimen of the thoroughbred.

James E. Everman has again taken up Stone Street, the Kentucky Derby winner of 1908. He expects to get some effective racing out of this veteran this season. Stone Street raced little last season, but the year before he was a high-class selling plater and ran some sparkling races in Everman's hands. With the distance to his liking and a track to suit him he is always a hard plater to beat. Stone Street and Wintergreen are the only Kentucky Derby winners in training in Kentucky. Last year's winner, Worth, as well as Donau, which won the event in 1910, are both dead, while Meridian, the Derby winner of 1911, is a member of R. F. Carman's stable in the east.

M. Wilson shipped here today from Oklahoma City two three-year-olds, Miss Clark and Darby, both of which are by the well-known sire, Modred. They are stabled at the Downs. The men coming with them said that A. C. McCafferty, who is now at Oklahoma City with his stable, would likely ship here also within the next few days. Mr. McCafferty has in his string the well-known performers Dominica, Suffragist and Frazzle, all of which were good winners at Juarez last winter.

Trainer Cliff Hammon spent Sunday at Idle Hour Farm and he brought back news of four great foals having been dropped at that place within the last few days. They are all by that noted sire, Sain. One is a bay colt out of the famous Love Not, which ran third to Novelty and Bashti in the last Coney Island Jockey Club Futurity. Another is a brown colt out of the great race mare, Dishabille; another a black filly out of Bandalla and the other a bay colt out of Wayward Lass, the dam of Bachelor Girl. This is the mare's first surviving colt, her other produce that have raced being fillies, four in number, all of which are winners. Love Not and Wayward Lass will both be mated this season with Cunard, while Bandalla will be mated with Ultimus and Dishabille with Trap Rock.

Superintendent Frank Keegan, of the Juarez and Churchill Downs tracks, is out again after an illness which confined him to the house for about a week. He will now busy himself getting the track at the Downs in record-breaking condition.

Doerhoefer & West's noted race mare, Melisande, which was crippled in a race and retired to the stud last season, has proved not to be in foal to Jim Gaffney, the horse with which she was mated last spring. Her owners have booked her this season to J. E. Madden's great horse, Ballot.

Bunch of Keys and the two-year-old in the stable of G. W. Langdon, which reached here from Gravesend a bit sick, have recovered and will be able to work in a few days. Of the five two-year-olds that Langdon brought here two are by Salvation, the sire of Jim Basey and other good western winners, while the others are a colt by Celt—Fairy Sprite, a colt by Woolsthorpe and a filly that is a sister to the Kentucky Oaks candidate, Christmas Star. They are all good looking youngsters and showed up well as yearlings. The Celt colt, which Langdon bought privately from J. E. Madden, was purchased at the sale of the Keene yearlings last fall by Mr. Madden for $2,300. Briar Path, Langdon's good filly, has passed through a severe sickness the past winter and is now rounding to in good shape. This daughter of Marta Santa is not engaged in either the Ashland or Kentucky Oaks.

John Lowe has in his stable the western-bred horse, Palo Alto, which he is attempting to train again. The horse could not look better and his legs appear to be sound. Palo Alto has not raced since the Oakland track was closed in 1911.

W. H. Karrick, who has the strings of H. K. Knapp and F. R. and Thomas Hitchcock, will, it is understood, bring eighteen horses to race at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park this summer. Fourteen of them are two-year-olds. His older horses are the noted Sprite and the three-year-olds Centurion, Yankee Notions and Strenuous. The last-named two are eligible for the Kentucky Derby.

George J. Long's great four-year-old, Free Lance, was brought in from Bashford Manor Farm to his old quarters, trainer Pete Coyne's stable at Churchill Downs, yesterday. The Latonia Derby winner of 1912 has been running out on the farm all winter and appears to be in a robust, hardy condition. No effort will be made to train him for racing before fall, but trainer Coyne will begin giving him slow exercise within the next few days. Experts agree that there is no doubt the son of Alvescot will again stand training. If he meets with no mishaps when autumn rolls around he will make a bid in the Long colors for the four-mile Kentucky Endurance Stakes of 1913.

Jockey J. Deavenport is here with his father, J. H. Deavenport, whose string is being trained by Harry Herdel, and is busying himself exercising Irish Gentleman in his morning work. Deavenport has grown too heavy to ride except on special occasions and has about made up his mind to devote his attention to training. Besides Irish Gentleman, this string only has at present the well-known performer, Rio Brazos and a two-year-old brother to that western-bred horse, which is named Jack Crowders. The latter Deavenport purchased when he secured Rio Brazos at Juarez a few weeks ago. Irish Gentleman is training in grand form this spring and he will make a bid for the $10,000 Kentucky Handicap, which will be run on the opening day of the coming Douglas Park spring meeting, Monday, May 26.

GOSSIP FROM BLUE GRASS REGION.

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—It is probable that Hawthorn and Helios, the first and second choices for the Kentucky Derby, will meet here in the Blue Grass Stakes, one mile and an eighth, to be run on Saturday, May 3, just a week in advance of the Derby date. Judge Will H. Shelley, who is performing his customary duties as racing secretary here, says he has been assured by trainer Trevey that Hawthorn will come here for the Blue Grass; trainer Will McDaniel says he nominated Foundation with the idea of starting him, and J. O. Keene says he will send Helios to the post if he is ready that day, and if not he will start his own entry, Lord Marshall, which is also eligible to the Derby, and is the stable's second string.

William J. Martin reports the following foals at Waldeck Stud: Desayuno, by Kendal—Smack, by Kisber, foaled a brown filly by Garry Herrmann; Grand Prize, by Kingston—Desayuno, foaled a bay colt by Garry Herrmann; Dixie Hart, by Peep o'Day—Voltario, by Volturno, foaled a chestnut filly by Garry Herrmann. All have been re-mated to Garry Herrmann.

March 25, brown colt by Ben Brush—Nun's Cloth, by Melton; March 27, chestnut colt by Peter Quince—Sweet Clover, by Esher; March 29, chestnut filly by Peter Quince—Amy J., by Bendoran; April 1, bay filly by Peter Quince—Proud Daisy, by Pride; April 3, chestnut colt by Peter Quince—Wadena, by Star Shoot; April 8, chestnut filly, by Peter Quince—Tunisia, by Mazagan.

O. D. Randolph's chestnut mare Josie Cohan, by Handball—Manola Mason (dam of McChesney), by Top Gallant, foaled on March 1 a chestnut colt by Hastings and has been mated with Peep o'Day.

Charles J. McKenna of Lexington has refused an offer of approximately $10,000 for his Kentucky Derby eligible, Foundation, which has been training in such sensational style at Lexington under the eye of Will McDaniel. The offer was made by Louis Tauber, who represented a Louisville syndicate.

Racing at Lexington will begin each afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Admission is to be $1.50 for men and 50 cents for women.

THE LIVERPOOL GRAND NATIONAL.

How the World's Greatest Steeplechase Was Run and Its Many Mischances.

It is impossible to estimate an attendance on such a popular day and at such a vast place, but the writer takes the liberty of expressing the opinion that there were never previously so many people on Aintree race course. After all, the paddock always provides a reliable opportunity of testing the strength of the patronage. This is one of the biggest paddocks in the country, but it was packed like a herring basket such time as there was anything to see. Mostly there was, for the pressure was too great for one to get near enough to any particular candidate of one's fancy in the principal or any other of the races.

There was always a blaze of color in the ladies' costumes, this being enhanced by the presence of many fair daughters of France, who had come over perhaps to see Trianon III. run; but apart from that the Grand National has been an increasingly strong attraction to French sportsmen and sportswomen since Lutteur III. won four years ago. He, by the way, was an entirely different type of animal from Trianon III. The latter, a very light grey eight-year-old, is the sort that attracts the ordinary onlooker, but the critic pauses. This one did not attract much attention in the market, and at the post he gave one the impression of being in a circus, for he pawed the ground in the gentle style of the beautiful disposition associated with the memories of childhood's days. We had little opportunity of judging of his abilities as a jumper of Aintree fences, for he was among the crowd to begin with and fell at the fence after Valentine's the first time.

Another foreigner in Highbridge soon splashed his reputation, as Americans have been wont to do when they have had to tackle these fences. Rubio being a remarkable, but one would not be tempted to say brilliant, exception. This gift horse from father to son had varied the usual experience of Yankees coming to England to do wonders over the biggest course in the world, in that he had shown up well in public on this side. He made an immense number of friends, and there was quite a big paddock inspection of him, but the old tale had to be told. He came a cropper at the first fence, where also Melamar, to the great disappointment of most good judges, came down. Competitors for such a race as this are not usually as sensitive to observation as, for instance, two-year-olds; only a few paraded in the ring specially provided for that purpose, and some were hidden away in corners to be saddled. However, the writer managed to get a good look at Ballyhackle, which was in beautiful trim, and strode round in the style of a master. Axle Pin had to all appearances shaken off the effects of the recent trouble which kept him out of training for rather more than a fortnight. He sweated, but only very slightly, and his owner's statement to the Press on Thursday that the horse was very, very well was justified; but Axle Pin was one of the first to bow the knee, and not straighten it again. The lot were level, without being brilliant. One of the best, if not quite the best-looking, was Irish Mail. It would hardly serve any useful purpose to refer further in detail to the condition of the candidates, but from observation and information it may be gathered that they were the fittest company we have seen in this great race for many years.

Carsey was, in a matnner of putting it, the Manifesto of the party, for his was the greatest experience of the Aintree fences, and short of winning a Grand National he had done more over this course than even Manifesto or the classic Cloister. He had never looked better in his life, and he never put up a more game performance. He did not actually fall, but he was beaten when he rolled into the last fence but one and unshipped his rider. The little stride he had for twenty yards or so without a jockey gave him a breather, and he was quite willing and able to jump the fence at the second time of asking. Meanwhile Mr. H. Tyrwhitt Drake's own horse had passed Mr. H. Tyrwhitt Drake's mount, but as Mr. Drake had anticipated, Irish Mail was not second best. The judge's decision as to the margin separating the first and second and the second and third was the unique one of "a distance and a distance;" but with six furlongs still to be covered, Irish Mail was quite a quarter of a mile behind. This gelding got on to the top of the last fence but one, and so twisted his quarters that he had to bring off a wonderful performance to get over. This was evidently a lesson to him, and he cleared the final obstacle so beautifully that considering he is only a six-year-old, he will be well to make a note of a possible future Grand National winner. A description of the race is given below, and one need not dilate upon the fact that only two of the twenty-two runners escaped mishap. This is not a record, for we have had instances of many starting but few standing up, the most notable being the case of Glenside, which, when he won three years ago, was the only one of twenty-six runners to get round without having to be remounted.

The chief concern when so many accidents have happened is as to whether there had been serious hurt to man or beast. Diligent inquiries revealed that none had occurred, except that Foolhardy's Jockey had been taken in the ambulance to the hospital, where it was found after half an hour or so that he was merely knocked out after all. He was not quite such an invalid as "Tich" Mason, who was looking rueful with his right hand in a sling as a result of an accident at Manchester, which prevented him from riding Axle Pin. Ernest Piggott, who would have had the mount on Covertcoat, but for a fall three weeks ago, the result of which was a breakage of a small bone in one of his hands. A curious coincidence, certainly so far as the two jockeys are concerned, and one which must particularly irritate Piggott, is that, supposing he had had the leg up on Covertcoat yesterday, he would have tied with Percy Woodland as rider of two Grand National winners apiece in recent years. There are several instances of this happening in the sixties and seventies, by the way, but this was a case of a jockey finding it hard luck to stand down in favor of another whose victory would be his third, whereas his own would remain as one. Piggott hails from the district where the owner of Covertcoat lives, and he rode Jerry M. for the Welsh baronet last year. Jerry M.'s scratching from this year's race before the acceptances had been declared was a blow in a sentimental sense to all followers of steeplechasing, for there can be no question that he was the finest jumper, and more particularly the finest "Liverpool" horse that we have seen for a long time.

Covertcoat is probably as good a horse as ever completed the Aintree course without putting a leg astray. You will always be told that this, that, and the other horse would have won "if he had stuck up." Well, on this occasion there were few, if any, legitimate "excuses" or horses which fell.

Falls began very early, and at the first fence Highbridge and Melamar came down, and other mishaps occurred at nearly every fence, and the only ones to clear the water were Regent, Merryland, Wavelet, The Rejected IV., Thowl Pin, Fearless VII., Covertcoat, and Foolhardy. At the first fence in the country the second time round The Rejected IV. fell when leading, and Foolhardy, which had been remounted, fell again. At the fence before Becher's, which is, roughly, a mile from home, Covertcoat took the lead, and won in the style of a good horse.

This was the third success in the Grand National of his owner, who first came into prominence with Cloister, with which he was unquestionably unlucky to be beaten in 1891, though he found consolation two years later, when that great steeplechaser won with 175 pounds on his back, the same weight that Jerry M., in the same colors, carried last year.

The starting prices were 5 to 1 against Ballyhackle, 100 to 9 against Carsey, Highbridge, Wavelet and Covertcoat, 100 to 8 against Axle Pin and Melamar, 100 to 6 against Bloodstone, 20 to 1 Thowl Pin, 25 to 1 Irish Mail and Blowpipe, 33 to 1 Fetlar's Pride and Trianon III., 40 to 1 The Rejected IV., 50 to 1 Dysart and Tokay, 66 to 1 Regent and Black Plum, 100 to 1 The Miner, Fearless VII. and Merry Land, and 200 to 1 Foolhardy.

After they had twice broken away, Mr. Coventry lowerd the flag to a capital start. Blowpipe made play from Bloodstone, Thowl Pin, Carsey, Irish Mail, Wavelet, Regent, Fearless VII., Dysart, Merry Land, Trianon III., Highbridge, Covertcoat, Foolhardy, Melamar, Axle Pin and Black Plum, with The Miner last to the first fence, where Melamar and Highbridge fell, as did Dysart, Tokay, The Miner and Wavelet at the fence before Becher's, over which Blowpipe landed in front of Merry Land, Bloodstone, Axle Pin, Carsey, Regent, Ballyhackle, Thowl Pin, Irish Mail, Covertcoat, Foolhardy, Fetlar's Pride, Fearless VII., The Rejected IV., Black Plum and Trianon III.

So they raced to the Canal turn, where Fetlar's Pride came to grief, and Axle Pin and Black Plum refused the same obstacle; At the next fence Ballyhackle and Trianon III. toppled over, Blowpipe now being clear of Merry Land, The Rejected IV., Regent, Carsey, Covertcoat, Thowl Pin, Irish Mail, Foolhardy and Fearless VII. Little change in these positions occurred till jumping the water, when Blowpipe and Bloodstone fell. The Rejected IV. carrying on the running clear of Merry Land, Carsey, Regent, Thowl Pin, Fearless VII., Irish Mail, Covertcoat and Foolhardy.

At the first fence in the country the second time The Rejected IV. and Fearless VII. fell, and at the next Foolhardy came down, while Merry Land and Regent slipped in the ditch, Thowl Pin being put out at the plain obstacle before Becher's. Carsey and Covertcoat were then several lengths in front of Irish Mail, these being the only three left standing. Round the Canal turn Covertcoat headed Carsey, which unseated his jockey two fences from home, leaving Covertcoat to win by a distance from Irish Mail, the remounted Carsey being a similar distance away third. Nothing else completed the course. Time, 10 minutes 19 seconds. Mr. W. MacNeill, the rider of Foolhardy, was knocked out, but quickly recovered.

Covertcoat is a bay horse seven years old, by Hackler out of Cinnamon. He made his first appearance in public in 1910, when, in the colors of Mr. J. J. Maher, he finished unplaced in the Tower Steeplechase at the Leopardstown December meeting. The following year he led off by running unplaced in a maiden steeplechase at the Dublin Metropolitan New Year meeting, and was then runner-up to Bunclody in a qualifying steeplechase at the same venue's Spring meeting. Next he finished out of the first three in the Newbrook Plate, a steeplechase, at Mullingar Spring, and after a second to Galoshes in the Fairyhouse Plate at the Ward Union Hunt meeting he gained the first victory of his career, this being in the Maiden Steeplechase at the Kildare and National Hunt Steeplechases. Subsequently he was sent to the Dublin Summer Sales and was purchased by Sir Charles Assheton-Smith for 1,150 guineas. He carried his new owner's colors twice the same year, failing to complete the course in the Valentine Steeplechase at Liverpool November meeting, and finishing a bad third to Lord Rivers in the Uxbridge Handicap Steeplechase at Kempton Park December meeting. Last year he was seen out on half a dozen occasions, but his only success was gained in the Sandown Handicap Steeplechase at the December meeting. He fell in the Grand National, and also in the Grand Sefton Steeplechase at the Liverpool November meeting. This year he led off by finishing second to General Fox in the Liverpool Trial Steeplechase at Sandown Park in February, and then won the Trial Handicap Steeplechase at Hurst Park in March.—London Sporting Life.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Communications without names and addresses will not be noticed nor answered. No answers will be sent by mail and none by wire unless reply prepayment is made at time of wiring query.

Al H., St. Louis, Mo. Nothing went on Chas. Cannell and you had $1.15 coming from the Grosvenor show bet.

C. B. H., Chicago. The term "about" in connection with the distance of certain races of itself carries the implication that those distances are not exactly defined, hence we cannot furnish the information desired. The Charleston and Jamestown tracks are of the ordinary elliptical shape without chutes.

L. P., Lexington, Ky. (1) Two foals from the same mare, but sired by different horses are half brothers or sisters, as the case may be. (2) Under the rules if a horse should be foaled December 31 it would be held to be one year old the day following. Instances have occurred, a good racer named Grover Cleveland some years back performing well under the handicap of always being rated a year older than it really was.

TRAINING THE THOROUGHBRED.

Methods That John E. Madden Has Followed Successfully in Handling Race Horses.

An article on the training of the thoroughbred, from the pen of John E. Madden, originally written for the New York Herald, is a feature of a book recently published by Mr. Madden's sons, Edward and Joseph, dealing with the Hamburg Place horses. It is entitled "Modern Training Methods," and coming from such eminent authority is well worth perusing. It is as follows:

In training the thoroughbred of today there are certain rules very essential to the success of the horse.

First and foremost, I would say regular feeding, good oats and hay, bran and grass and regular work.

On work days be sure that the horse has had ample time to digest his food.

Should the trainer be a betting man he generally likes to wager on his horse the first time he starts. This is often followed with bad results, since to know that your horse can win the first time must have required fast trials. One can win his first bet, but at the cost of a good horse, leaving him quite often in a nervous condition and perhaps a breakdown.

It takes a skillful trainer to handle successfully a nervous horse. A good foreman, a good night watchman and a good exercise boy, weighing about 110 pounds, who will adopt the balance seat Sloan reestablished, which was shown in the Herald to have been used by the riders three hundred years ago, are very necessary in the training of horses. Don't overlook the necessity of having an owner with plenty of money.

It is important that the night watchman report the behavior of the horse during the night of his work day. He may not lie down, which indicates nervousness, the result of overwork.

It requires a skillful trainer to prepare a horse not having started during the season and have him good for his first race.

If a trainer has a trial horse to be used in connection with preparing his horse it is of greater benefit than half a dozen work-outs and gives the trainer a better line on his condition. Much depends, of course, upon the horse you are preparing for long races. You have to take into consideration the age, degree of soundness, constitution and disposition and more especially those with extreme speed, known as sprinters, which if easily placed, may be prepared to go a distance. One that cannot be placed will fail over a distance, as whether you let him run out or take him back he usually runs just as fast "inside."

Frequently I hear of a horse described as a "quitter," or it is often mentioned that he stops. This is a recommendation for the horse, as, after all, we are trying to breed a very fast horse and only fast horses stop and quit.

I believe there are plenty of stayers, or horses now in training that would run stayers if they were trained to do so, but the opportunity for their development in this particular line does not exist in the same degree as it did in the past.

The breed is as good, and, indeed better, today than when long distance racing was an attraction in the turf world. Staying is so much a matter of training and is in so great a degree a merely relative attribute that it is difficult to gauge the merits of the stayer of one time with those of the stayer of another.

All sound horses can stay at their own pace. The horse is celebrated for his power of endurance, that is to say, for his ability to stay. What is meant by a good stayer is an animal which can last longer over a distance of ground at a better pace than his antagonist. Though all or several of his opponents may be able to move at a higher rate of speed than he can over a part of that distance, but withal, are constitutionally unable to maintain their efforts for the same length of time as the stayer, and in accordance to what the stayer's speed is, so is he reckoned among the good, moderate or inferior class of stayers.

Those who decry the race horse of today on the ground that in his case every quality is sacrificed to speed either entirely overlook or do not understand the term staying. They fail to see that speed—to which they assert everything is wrongly sacrificed—is in itself the very bedrock of staying power.

Of course, in saying that staying is to a great extent a matter of training, it is not intended to be implied that a horse constitutionally a non-stayer can be made to stay by simply training him to run long distances.

As a rule, when horses are really non-stayers they are so from physical conformation or lack of breeding. Take the quarter horse, a combination of hot and cold blood. What is it that anchors him—the cold or hot blood?

A natural non-stayer cannot be trained into a stayer. But many a horse, judged by the running of his early days to be a non-stayer, has proved on being trained to run long distances to possess staying powers of high order. If there is an incentive to owners to look out as much for stayers as for speed milers, horses able to go a distance will soon be found in largely increased numbers.

A good many horses which in these times are branded as poor stayers would have been considered good enough in that respect in the older days when races were certainly not run as fast as they are now.

I won the Annual Champion, two and one-quarter miles, value $25,000, with Salvidere and King James. Salvidere was delicate and unsound; fortunately he did not require much work. King James was different—a glutton at the feed box as well as work. It was necessary to repeat this horse, something I have often done and with good results. His final work for this stake was one and one-quarter miles in 2:11, and twenty-five minutes after I repeated him a half mile in forty-nine seconds.

Salvidere worked handily a mile and a half in 2:38, but was not repeated.

A horse will usually show his condition at feeding time and, if nervous, work should be postponed. Nervous horses are often subject to scouring.

Frequently you hear of fast trials for big events. These are given, generally, by young trainers just beginning their career, but as they grow older you will note a change in their methods and they work instead of running trials against the watch.

The American trainer is a great caretaker, spending much money for linaments to be used on legs and body, which remove soreness after a hard work-out or a race.

Horses which are expected to take part on the prominent tracks around New York generally commence their work about January 15. Many trainers do not commence until the first of February and are confined to the shed, as the weather, climate and roads on metropolitan tracks seldom permit of outdoor work at that time.

Some horses are given as much as from five to seven miles of slow jogging daily under the shed until the weather opens up. The trainer considers himself fortunate if he can get on the course as early as St. Patrick's day, when, after about two weeks of slow galloping, miles are made in about two minutes, and then you gradually work up to a mile in 1:45. This is the point where you can determine the soundness and constitution of your horse. A horse with a good constitution can be given more work than those to which nature has not been so kind.

Very few blankets are used by the American trainer. Every effort is made to keep as much flesh as possible on his horse. Light weight linseys are mostly used and they take the place of the old time woolen blanket.

American weather, especially when it is very hot, makes American training methods different from English methods, as the weather in England is generally cold.

After a strong work-out the condition of his wind will show the condition of the horse.

Generally two days are given between work and the horses are then indulged in trotting and slow gallops.

Some horses will race to their best form when given slow breezing every other day and at no time a fast trial.

With a stable of twenty horses there might be but two which require the same treatment to race successfully.

Judgment must be used in estimating the individual qualities of your horses as to soundness, constitution and disposition.

Sobriety is most desirable in a trainer and a good jockey always adds to the success of the horse.

It is necessary that you have discipline of the strictest kind in a racing stable, and the more gentle the attendant or the caretaker the better the results.

Remember this, a horse only knows what you teach him.

When a horse shows fear of his attendant the man has abused him and should be discharged.

In mating much attention should be paid to disposition and constitution, for a good disposition and a strong constitution, with the ever necessary gift of speed, makes the stake horse. He can lay off the pace in the early stages of a race and win.

The beginner will often tell you that he is going to breed stayers only. I know then that he is going to breed a lot of slow horses.

I have been asked regarding color and size of a good race horse. This is a difficult question and often a matter of fancy. The old saying is so true—a good gamecock has no bad color.

Now as to size, many big turnips are hollow.

Less blanks are likely to follow the selection of small or medium sized yearlings. The yearling that fills your eye as to size is often too big when he is two years old.

I approve of the big horse if you judge him by the scales instead of the tape or standard.

In case of illness or lameness consult a reputable veterinarian.

Beware of quacks who cure all ailments, or profess to do so.

In case of lameness very frequently the trainer or owner resorts to the firing iron or severe blister too quickly. From bitter experience I am as afraid of the firing iron as the devil is of holy water. Many cases of lameness can be cured by using cooling lotions with cotton and a bandage. Remove the shoes, trim the feet so they will have frog pressure, turn the horse into a paddock two hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon. In many cases it is well to give a mild purgative, especially in the case of gross horses. Cut their grain down to one half of what they were being given while in training. Instead of using a severe blister on the leg you will get better results if you apply a mild blister on the horses back directly where the saddle is placed. This will insure a rest of about two weeks, then the blister will be healed and by this time the cooling lotion has removed the fever from the leg and you have lost very little time.

Winner—B. g, by Marta Santa—Roberta Lee (trained by G. M. Johnson).

Went to post at 2:30. At post 6 minutes. Start good and slow. Won easily; second and third driving. BULGAR took the lead at once and, having sprinted away from the others in the first eighth, withstood a game challenge from THE IDOL while rounding the far turn and was going away through the last eighth. THE IDOL ran a good race, but tired in the homestretch and was driving hard to outstay FREE TRADE. The latter was hard ridden from the start and pulled up sore. MISS WATERS finished with a rush, but too late to be of service. The winner, entered for $800, was bid up to $905 and bought in.

SECOND RACE—3-4 Mile. (88914—1:12—4—106.) Purse $300. 3-year-olds. Maidens. Special Weights. Net value to winner $225; second, $50; third, $25.

Went to post at 3:00. At post 3 minutes. Start good and slow. Won easily; second and third driving. COGS was saved behind the pacemakers to the stretch turn, from where he moved up rapidly and drew away into an easy lead. CHAD BUFORD set the early pace and was much used in racing FUCHSIA into defeat in the first half and tired. The latter ran well and was crowded back when entering the homestretch. SNOWFLAKES began slowly, but gained steadily and finished fast. MOHAWK BOY showed speed.
